Lithium in Afghanistan - Jesse Ventura

The fact of lithium in Afghanistan as motivation for our involvement there not only for cell phones and electric cars but apparently for use in going off planet was revealed by Camelot whistleblowers some time ago. Jesse does a good job of addressing why we go to war at least partially. One wonders when he will get to the point of talking openly about the secret government and black projects and the hidden economy that operates surrounding our secret space program. Given the incredible amount of activity and war being conducted in our skies with various visitors... any bankruptcy of the American economy is likely fairly superficial. One might say, above ground only.

People need to realize that their focus on banksters is misguided. The real culprit and drain is the Secret Space Program and Black Projects being conducted under cover.
