Adonayah Yahovih "The Angelic Ambassador"

Adonayah Yahovih is an official name title given to the angel who spoke with the prophets of Yahovah. This angel relayed messages like an ambassador does when communicating with another country. In this case it is an ambassador sent to mediate between a supreme spiritual entity and humanity. This particular angel in reference is the "Word" or "Logos" who was born into humanity as Yahshua the Messyah.

Adonayah Yahovih means "Yahh's Lord from Yahovah" which when broken down it is Adona (Lord), yah (Yahh) and Yahovih (Yahovah). These words signify title and ownership. The name Yahovih is from the supreme Goddess Yahovah and using an "i" instead of an "a" signifies a lesser entity. In the English version of scriptures this term is rendered as "Lord God" which shows no real distinction as to who it is referring to. In dissecting the Hebrew words beneath the English a more truthful understanding can be comprehended. This alteration of scriptures was created by unspiritual scholars who didn't full comprehend the original script. And also many of these translators were pagan influenced priest who incorporated other religious beliefs into their works. They wanted to be at least partially right about their past involvement with paganism and so they added to the truth with pagan error. In their pursuit of promoting the Greek influences of monotheism, they twisted and covered over important information that deals with spiritual reality. This religious bias can be fully understood when retranslating scriptures from the English back into the Hebrew. Their over all goal of covering up the truth with falsehood has failed especially with this author.
