DATELINE: Kigali, Rwanda — According to a scientific report filed by a team of anthropologists digging in Central Africa, up to 200 gigantic alien bodies entombed for five centuries have been unearthed

But the African find is only the latest in a string of alien body discoveries stretching back some seventy years
This creature is alleged to have two faces

China's strange alien bodies

It seems if anthropologists or archaeologists dig hard enough, deep enough, and long enough, sooner or later alien bodies will surface.

1937 was a banner year for alien corpses in China. That was the year several scrawny alien cadavers were allegedly discovered. All had huge heads—and buried in caves nearby were mysterious discs that came to be called the "Dropa stones." <http://beforeitsnews.com/story/1292/633...ramid.html>

Fast forwarding several decades, archaeologists breaking into a small pyramid in Egypt claimed to have found a giant, alien-like humanoid. Unlike most ancient Egyptians, the cadaver was not mummified, had no ears or nose, a very wide mouth and no discernible tongue.

Such a body may be explained as being an alien—or it could have been a giant slave buried alive with his tongue cut out, as Egyptians were known to do when a slave's master or mistress died.

And there the answer might lie, except for the testimony of those that discovered the tomb where the remains were found. They claimed strange artifacts littered the floor of the burial chamber.

Among the relics, the team also found a burnished disc of unknown metal engraved with unknown symbols—not the expected Egyptian hieroglyphs. They also retrieved small stone tablets depicting pictograms of stars, planets and bizarre machines.

The corpse was not wrapped, nor dressed, in a traditional Egyptian burial shroud or garb, but was clothed in an odd metallic tunic. It's feet were adorned with shoes or slippers that had a look and feel similar to vinyl

Amulet: A strange alien being wearing helmet

The tomb itself was odd.

The stones to the entrance had to be smashed apart by the team because the rock was fused and melted. Inside the eerie burial chamber, the interior walls seemed polished and partially covered with thin, hanging sheets of a substance having the consistency of lead.

Spelunkers find remains of alleged alien being

The amazing Turkish spaceman

Years later—far from Egypt—Turkish spelunkers almost tripped over a weird cadaver while exploring a remote mountain cavern: a partially mummified pygmy alien.

Police were notified, but they determined if murder was involved, the foul play took place thousands of years before the cave explorers happened upon the fragile body.

Later, forensic experts in Istanbul dated the remains to the last Ice Age. More curious than the mummified remains of the pygmy Ice Man (the corpse was no taller than three and a half feet during life) was the bizarre resting place where the group of explorers found the body: a heavy, oddly shaped casket said to be composed of some sparkling crystal-like material.

Pathologists that studied the corpse agreed it appeared humanoid and was not a species of ape. All the facial features were similar to a human except for one shocking variation: it's eyes were three times larger than a normal human's eyes. The creature's pupils also resembled a reptile's more than a mammal's eyes. All were amazed that the body showed so little signs of decay.

What technology cut these gigantic stones?

African aliens mass grave discovery called 'stunning'

Back in Africa, as many as forty mass graves were reportedly discovered at the dig. The large clay pits contained hundreds of well-preserved cadavers.

Supposedly, the remains of the unworldly creatures were tall—measuring as much as seven feet or more in length—but despite the size of the creatures' legs, arms and torsos, their heads were described as huge—and distinctly disproportionate—compared to their bodies.

'Valley of the Moon Mountain Dragons' also holds secrets

Allegedly, the partially mummified remains of the enigmatic creatures showed no evidence of normal human facial features.

One of the scientific team called the discovery momentous and stunning.

Intense exploration of the region around the alien cemetery did not reveal the slightest trace of any anomalous artifacts or the telltale remains of an ancient, damaged spacecraft.

Despite their failure to discover any other hard evidence, the team believes it's possible the humanoids were crewmembers aboard a large alien vessel that crashed or became incapacitated. They speculate that, gradually, the crew succumbed to common Earth-borne diseases.

Who buried the last of the alleged aliens is unknown...like so many other things about this latest alien graves discovery more questions are raised than are answered.

"Cemetery of giant creatures found in Central Africa
June, 24 2011

A team of anthropologists found a mysterious burial in the jungle near the city of Kigali Rwanda (Central Africa).

The remains belong to gigantic creatures that bear little resemblance to humans. Head of research group believes that they could be visitors from another planet who died as a result of a catastrophe.

According to the scientists, they were buried at least 500 years ago. At first, researchers thought that they came across the remains of ancient settlements, but no signs of human life have been found nearby.

The 40 communal graves had approximately 200 bodies in them, all perfectly preserved. The creatures were tall - approximately 7 feet. Their heads were disproportionately large and they had no mouth, nose or eyes.

The anthropologists believe that the creatures were members of an alien landing, possibly destroyed by some terrestrial virus to which they had no immunity. However, no traces of the landing of the spacecraft or its fragments were discovered.

This is not the first such finding. In the summer of 1937 a group of Chinese scientists led by Professor Chi Putei surveyed the caves of Mount Bayan-Kara-Ula. Inside they found skeletons with excessively large heads and puny bodies. Nearby there were 176 stone plates. In the center of each plate there was a hole from which a spiral groove spread out to the perimeter with some characters on it.

In addition, the cave walls were covered with pictures of the rising sun, moon and stars, with many painted dots or small items, slowly approaching the mountains and the earth's surface.

Experts in deciphering ancient written characters have been puzzled over the disclosure of the secret spirals from the cave Bayan-Kara-Ula for two decades. Finally, the professor of Beijing University Zum Umniu deciphered several inscriptions.

The grooved letters narrated that approximately 12 thousand years ago some flying objects crashed in these mountains. Chinese archaeologists found a mention of the peoples who lived in the mountainous caves of Bayan-Kara-Ula.

A corpse of another "alien" was found by Turkish cavers. A mummy of the ice age was resting in a sarcophagus made of crystalline material. The height of the humanoid male creature did not exceed 1 meter 20 centimeters, his skin was light green, and he had large transparent wings on his sides.

According to the researchers, in spite of the unusual appearance the creature looked more like a person rather than an animal. His nose, lips, ears, hands, feet, nails, were very similar to human. Only his eyes were very different, three times bigger than those of a human, and colorless, like reptile's eyes.

Not that long ago in one of the ancient Egyptian tombs a mummy of a man 2.5 meters tall was found. It had no nose or ears, and its mouth was very wide and had no tongue.

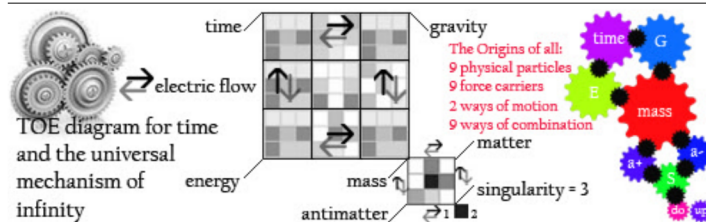

According to archaeologist Gaston de Villars, the age of the Mummy is approximately 4 thousand years. It was buried as an Egyptian nobleman - carefully mummified and surrounded by servants, food and art objects designed for the afterlife. However, as it was discovered, not all objects around the finding belong to the Egyptian or even Earth's culture. For example, among the finds was a round polished metal disk covered with strange characters, a costume made of metal with the remnants of something resembling plastic shoes, and many stone tablets filled with images of stars, planets and strange machines. The Shrine where a strange mummy was found also looks unusual. The burial was made of the material unknown in antiquity. The stone was literally carved from the rock so that the walls were smooth, like polished marble. It looked as if it was cut by a laser. Incidentally, the stone's surface was fused. The tomb was decorated with a substance resembling lead.

However, the "alien" theory is not the only one. According to some researchers, the "giants" and "dwarfs" could be a mere side branch of humanity that once lived on Earth, but for some reason became extinct."

"Giant aliens have been roaming this planet longer than scientists believed as this giant alien skeleton uncovered in Nashville, Tennessee proves. Grassy Knoll Institute scientists were flown in to carefully uncover the skeleton and are now studying it in hopes of finding a flaw in the genetic makeup that could be used against them. The size of this giant alien is estimated to be 42 feet tall and preliminary bone forensics believe the alien to be that of a young male."
