Satsang and Ashram Foundation [\[edit\]](#)

The Radha Swami satsang at Dinod was founded by Godman Sant Tarachand ji Maharaj. For his cause he visited western countries and Europe twenty times. As a result, thousands of initiates joined him in Canada, U.S.A, U.K. and Mid-east countries.

Kawar Singh ji Maharaj is the present master/guru in Dinod Dham Ashram. He was born on March 2, 1948. His first meeting with his guru had a phenomenal effect. He declared that he would not return home always stay in his Dinod Ashram. Dinod is a Village located in Bhiwani district in the Indian state of Haryana.

Star Monument, Dinod [\[edit\]](#)

Picture depicting all six gurus of Radha Swami Satsang Dinod

The star monument of Tarachand ji Maharaj was completed in four years by Param Sant Huzur Kanwar Saheb ji Maharaj and by his blessings.

This building houses the holy Samādhi of Param Sant Tarachand ji Maharaj, called 'Bade Maharaj ji', by his followers. This building is situated in the Radha Swami Satsang bhawan Complex, Dinod, about 10 km from Bhiwani.^[3]

Its foundation was laid on October 1, 1997 by Param Sant Huzur Kanwar Saheb ji Maharaj and completed four years later. The monument is a hexagonal pyramid in the shape of star, as Bade Maharaj ji's first name "Tara" means a star. Each side measures about 101 feet from the base built on a raised platform measuring about 2 meters. Three alternating sides are covered in white marble while the other three are in blue Italian glass. The building does not use pillars or columns to support itself. The three walls of the Samādhi have prominent stars on them while inside the holy Samādhi are infinite sparkling and twinkling stars. Ventilation and cooling techniques are traditional. Fresh air passes over the fountains is cooled and enters the Samādhi through openings and is expelled through vents at the top. During the humid season, the exhaust fans recycle the air.^[3]

The Samādhi is constructed on a rectangular platform in the center. The statue of Bade Maharaj ji is erected near the western wall. Apart from this, six paintings depict the life of Bade Maharaj ji on the six corners of the Samādhi. The marble slippers placed on lotus flower near the Samādhi symbolizes the holy feet of Bade Maharaj ji.

The building is surrounded by flower beds, lawns, fountains and multicoloured marble paths. Stars were constructed inside the boundary wall. In the middle of each star, a moon is engraved depicting the name of Bade Maharaj ji. Every evening, a light and fountain display is conducted in the gardens. The garden houses a small hut on the right side in which Maharaj ji used to meditate. It is the most important place of meditation of Bade Maharaj ji. A holy well is on the left side, the water of which is alleged to relieve many diseases. One stair faces the main entrance gate and two others face the exit gates. Five fountains are in the garden. Two round fountains are on both sides of the main entrance. The other three are on the raised platform between the stairs around the Samādhi. On the right side from the entrance gate is a man-made waterfall in the north-eastern corner, made up of mountain shaped stones.
