The Seven Basic Beliefs of Divine Unity

DivineUnity has several logos. The one featured on this website is the Nautilus which symbolizes the Golden Rule as mathematically expressed via the Fibonacci sequence. The outward spiral symbolizes the ever expanding consciousness within Humanity of our Unity with all life, with each other and always with the Divine..

- DivineUnity also has 10 principles
1. There is One Power
 2. The Kingdom is Within
 3. I am an individualized expression of the Divine
 4. My thoughts and beliefs give specific form to Spirit
 5. The principle at the basis of our own lives is the Law of Cause and Effect.
 6. We are endowed with free will and thus can embody DivineUnity by choosing Compassion.
 7. Evil is not a separate force but a misuse of the Law.
 8. Changing my thinking, changes my life.
 9. There are Tools which enable us to transform our Consciousness
 10. All these principles assist us in realizing our DivineUnity which although always present may not be realized because of 'obscurations or delusions'.

Individual Realization of DivineUnity can be recognized by a person's compassionate action and being a consistent, positive presence. Although each person is responsible for his or her own personal spiritual evolution, we are also collectively responsible for the establishment and maintenance of a peaceful and prosperous ecologically balanced planet which is rooted in commonly understood laws that are fair and equally applied and rooted in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

1. We believe in the unity of all life and the unity of all life with the Divine Energy that is the root and fruit of all being.
2. We believe in spiritual evolution. The entire universe is evolving and growing and we are evolving from human self-conscious individuals into complete awareness of our DivineUnity as divine centered people.
3. We believe in the goodness of Spirit and in our innate goodness, because we are made in the image and likeness of the Divine. We believe that through perceiving our DivineUnity we are able to best embody the Divine will. We are worthy and loved.
4. We believe in responsibility and compassion. We take full responsibility for our lives because we are free, spontaneous, and unique individualizations of the Divine and we embody Divine love through compassionate action.
5. We believe in healing. We believe in using doctors and healers to achieve healing but that any condition can be transformed through affirmative prayer. Where doctors fail, the Divine will prevail.
6. We believe there is truth in all religions. We respect all love based ministries and all compassionate spiritual paths. We believe in harmony among diverse peoples, cultures, families, and life styles of the world rooted in and respecting the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.
7. We believe in spiritual transformation. As we open our minds and hearts to the Divine, and consciously love and serve others, we are transformed into the embodiment of DivineUnity. We choose our lives as spiritual beings with courage and grace.

The New Thought Movement

The New Thought movement — not to be confused with New Age — is more than a century old in its current form. It is practical, universal spirituality that promotes fullness of all aspects of living, through positive thinking, meditation, affirmative prayer, and other ways of realizing the presence of God. New Thought includes Unity, Religious Science, DivineUnity, Divine Science, Universal Foundation For Better Living, Seicho No Ei and other groups and individuals. A common saying in New Thought is Change Your Thinking, Change Your Life.

We believe the Divine may be called by many names — God, Goddess, Great Spirit, Brahma, Jaweh — but regardless of the name one calls the Divine, the Divine remains changeless and constant. The name you choose to call God changes you, not God. The Divine is personal living within each of us and uniting us all. Great Spirit does not necessarily have a gender, though some may choose to refer to God as He or She. New Thought honors the divinity and wisdom in each religion and spiritual tradition.

New Thought believes there were, and are many great teachers, including Jesus, Buddha, and Lao Tzu — and that each of us has the capacity to awaken to our DivineUnity.

There are many New Thought Authors , many of which can be found online in NewThoughtLibrary.com

New Thought is a movement that is over 150 years old, of which we are only one denomination. We are new and thus don't have many centers throughout the world yet but we support all of New Thought. You can find our centers in FindACenter or you can join our online community. There is no cost to join.

There are many wonderful denominations which are older than ours, having been formed in the 19th and 20th Centuries.

We encourage you to go to NewThought.info to find out more information about these NewThought denominations and the movement.

We have done our best to link to a representative sampling of New Thought beliefs for your convenience. We encourage you to attend a variety of New Thought spiritual centers till you find a Spiritual Community where you feel at home.

They are all wonderful and unique and through exploration you can find the center which is your Spiritual Community.

We affirm that there is one Energy, Universal Consciousness, Transcendent Cause, Being/Beingness, Love, Buddha Nature, which may also be called God/Goddess whose embrace is both universal and individual. That as we realize our DivineUnity with this energy we embody Compassion, Goodness, Wisdom, Love, Justice, Mercy, Truth, Power, Peace, Plenty and Joy more

Love, Compassion, Humility and Gratitude are major traits of the heart on our spiritual journey.
