

Strong's Concordance

middah: garment

Original Word: מִדָּה

Part of Speech: Noun Feminine

Transliteration: middah

Phonetic Spelling: (mid-daw')

Short Definition: garment

<http://biblehub.com/hebrew/4060.htm>

MIDAEL An angel mentioned in the occult works The Magus by Francis Barrett (1801) and the Greater Key of Solomon by S. L. MacGregor Mathers (1889). Midael is described as a member—even an officer—in the army of heaven. He is also the supposed “angel of the Lord,” noted in two of the Psalms (34 and 35): “The angel of the Lord encamps around those who fear him, and delivers them” and “Let them be like chaff before the wind, with the angel of the Lord driving them on! Let their way be dark and slippery, with the angel of the Lord pursuing them!”

Bunson, Matthew (2010-07-22). Angels A to Z: A Who's Who of the Heavenly Host (Kindle Locations 3291-3293). Crown Publishing Group. Kindle Edition.