Description:

Nasa accidentally confirms what we have known all along, that there are indeed structures on the moon. In this picture taken at the Nasa Ames Research Centre, we can clearly see a two possible structures, one is quite clearly a square shaped building, the other to the right of the building looks like a triangular shaped structure. Is this the smoking gun, absolute proof that NASA has been lying to the world? As always you decide.

Without at link to original source for the picture i would call this fake.

That is quite interesting. There's not much else one can say other than unless the image has been manipulated there appears to be a rather large square object the size of a crater on the moon somewhere.

Tommyr, the idea that the object in the picture is a "highlight box", makes less sense than it being moon Tupperware. It's the exact same color, quality, tone, contrast and angle as the rest of the photo, nothing whatsoever suggests any such thing.

Again, unless the image is a manipulation, that object is indeed in that picture, and it is for sure artificial. If it wasn't for the fact that it was so massive one could write it off as something we left up there or something jettisoned, but that's extraordinarily unlikely.

Where's the source of this picture?

I agree with you totally! But please from now on my friend when you post such looong comments break it up in at least a couple of paragraphs please, it is really hard to read a two f#ckin foot long paragraph without loosing your place, WTF!

Absolutely correct. Just a sensational title without any real evidence.

This is exactly the sort of video that has caused this site to lose any credibility and respect it might ever have had. This video was a complete waste of time, and to put the cherry on the cake, it is not even true! How does this video show that NASA "CONFIRMS MOON STRUCTURES EXIST" in any way, shape or form? It does not. In fact, saying that NASA confirms moon structures exist is an out and out lie. Why? Because NASA doesn't confirm moon structures exist! And they do not now, nor have they ever at any other time "confirmed" anything of that nature. By the way, making false claims, such as these posters do is what is known as libel. Sometimes people get sued for it, fyi. Anyway, my question is this: Do the people who post this sort of video attach such stupid, outrageous titles to them in hopes of attracting (albeit, via trickery/deception!) people to view their lame-ass videos? When will these idiots realize using words that make outlandish, ridiculous claims like ABSOLUTE PROOF, or POSITIVELY CONFIRMS fools ABSOLUTELY no one into watching their video; in fact doing so serves as a red flag, a heads up to people so that they will know NOT to watch them. However, I feel that these titles alone are not strong enough to protect the public from the danger which comes from viewing this kind of video trash. I believe that our government, NASA, the FDA and the CDC should also include some sort of alert as well, something along the lines of "WARNING!-VIEWING THIS VIDEO CAN CAUSE EXTREME MIND NUMBING, NAUSEA INDUCING REACTIONS IN ANY PERSON OVER AGE OF 12". I'm pretty certain that NASA can "CONFIRM" with "ABSOLUTE PROOF" that videos such as this are like vortex sucking black holes of nothingness, and are nothing but a complete waste of time! Seriously, why not try to learn something new and TRUE, then post something which intelligent people might actually be interested in and learn from. You could be doing something to help educate others. Why continue to post this kind of stupidity, which does nothing but bring this site down and only serves to reinforce and "ABSOLUTELY CONFIRM" what the mainstream masses already think- that we are nothing but a bunch of tinfoil hat wearing conspiracy freaks!

A highlight box? Odd that it would be out of perspective. Try again. Very cool.

THE TITLE IS A MISREPRESENTATION OF THE VIDEO. NO ONE AT NASA SAID ANYTHING IN THIS VIDEO! I'M NOT SAYING THE PHOTO ISN'T REAL, I JUST THINK THE TITLE IS MISLEADING. HOW DO WE KNOW WHERE THAT PHOTO WAS TAKEN? I DIDN'T SEE A BIG HEADLINE ON THE PHOTO OR DATE..I'M JUST SAYIN:)

It is a real photo. NASA said it was a marker on the photo but it clearly isn't. The object is dropping a shadow.

For all you people that have negative comments go and do some homework on You Tube and Internet. Are you seriously saying that you guys think we are the only ones that live in this infinite Universe come on we aren't! Why does the human race always put themselves above everything else. We are just a speck in this Universe. Wake up!

Your dead right lesley,these days you only have to look on the net and see for yourself.Ufo's for instance,they recon 95% of ufo reports are fake.But the other 5% are supposedly the real thing. The russian "phobos" probes that disappeared and the weird last images they took,the house sized objects that nasa say's are "rolling rocks",they look more like giant vehicles.Rocks don't avoid obstacles like these things do.It's all there for everyone to see,you just have to have an open mind.There's alot going on in our solar system that we just don't know about.
