Description:

Very strange clip of beams of light seemingly coming out of nowhere in the night sky in Tomsk Russia. As the beams dissappear a galaxy shaped spiral of light appears and forms from above. *Note: An alternative explanation could be that it is a 3 stage rocket launch, when the boosters disengage the next stage malfunctions and spirals out of control. There is another video floating around filmed by a documunentary crew in Moldovia that shows an intense sphere of light manifesting out of nowhere in broad daylight.
