

PhysForum Science, Physics and Technology Discussion Forums
(Powered by Invision Power Board)

Raphie Frank

Posted on Feb 1 2008, 11:32 PM

Quote

Advanced Member

Group: Power Member

Posts: 2036

Joined: 25-March 07

Positive Feedback: 55.56%

Feedback Score: -7

In essence, is string theory a logical outcome of a globalized, networked society?

I, for one, believe it is only a matter of time before we start speaking in terms of "social string theory" (aka "the connections between us" aka "the ties that bind").

Just extend the work of Barabasi of Notre Dame...

Albert-Laszlo Barabasi

Center for Complex Network Research

<http://www.nd.edu/~alb/>

Best,
Raphie

This post has been edited by Raphie Frank on Feb 1 2008, 11:34 PM

From: <http://www.physforum.com/index.php?showtopic=20251>