Hey Mur, good to see ya! I agree, the drones were not done as a prank.

Though I suspect He Who Laughs did not come by his name accidentally. 😊

Sometimes it seems painfully obvious that the "it's all just too awesome to be fake" mantra is the last ditch, desperate attempt to shift the focus away from some of the groups we have been discussing. The main reason I suspect they are players in the hoax is that I just can't believe they are all that stupid.

It has been shown time and again that the photos did not take any great use of resources to produce. We know the photos are CGI. To question that at this point is ludicrous. The Isaac stuff is mediocre fiction, with more fake photos. The awesomeness argument is just more bs.

It seems inevitable that the exopolitics nuts are being fed baloney by disinfo types. Even without such help, they are and will continue to be counterproductive to any real revelation. Infiltration of ufo groups and other paranormal organizations has been devastating, for decades. Keeping ufology marginalized has kept the real scientists away. That leaves the research to amateurs and phonies. There has been some astonishingly good work done by amateurs, but it remains marginalized and unexamined by the people who could do something with it. The bunkum campaigns also go without any sort of peer review, which leaves the curious bystander woefully unprepared to think effectively about what they might see or read about.

Another problem is that paranormal researchers of various stripe tend to skew the data to fit their own beliefs. This sort of self-censorship is a normal human behavior, and is part of what peer review is designed to counteract. You don't get away with ignoring significant data when you have colleagues and competitors examining your research. Some of this happens in ufology and other paranormal arenas, of course, but not nearly enough to be effective. We have important ufo data being ignored by people who could use it because it was made public by bigfoot researchers, or contactees of a spiritual bent, for example. This arrangement is not likely to change, and I don't expect any disclosure in my lifetime. Secrecy suits the ETs just fine, or it would have ended before I was born.

Dont try to discredit me with that. I stand by the colorations characters which were placed in there and as a point that the LAP was a human artifact, man made not Alien contrived and possible via its puzzles game or relious group related..

According to your logic here, then the lap was created in black and white then scanned in color so that color aberations would appear that were put there on purpose?? 😊 You sure about that?? 😊

The DRT has characters, I'll give you that. Characters, barrels of bs, and little else. Nobody is buying, but I am sure you have noticed.

Well said double , very well said..Mur went thru some "hell" himself when he questioned one of the exopolotic groups..Lasalle, on the testimony of former popular ATController that seemed to embellish his story . In fact got a suspension over it. In fact Mur has received hell for questioning DRT members and pushers of the drone reality.. and then The old PR guy who left the military immediately after Roswell..and went on to build the International Roswell museum, also embellished his story several times..especially I believe as before he died, a multimilion dollar project is in works. Good incentive to embellish and a lot more.

That embellishment certainly doesnt help the cases for UFO..but inevitable it seems when Money, speaking engagement fees etc, come into play. It does help the Disinfo people tremendously though.., less work for them, and more opportuniies to debunk the story at their leisure.

Most obvious throughout this saga has probably been some consistant clues about ppl... like when did I last post on DRT and they are not responsible and vice versa for what I say. 😊 who will ever know, most of the pertinent discussions were done on skype, and underground not in public as we do here.

We were investigating a long time before anyone, Mur can confirm that..so can Sid, ie the members of the ARC, and others separately. But ours, whether we checked the real possibilities, or hit upon an erroneous one, always always were transparent and in the open.

And We were right in our conclusions, and right for doing it that way. and continue to do so...

So dont turn this into a personality match..Its the only transparent thing you are doing.

If you can't contribute to the topic....we ask nicely get out. or Just Watch

Sometimes you follow a paper trail to catch the perps, and other times the most coherent line is the bs trail. The perps were careful to cover their tracks, but the bs is so overwhelming in mass and stench that it makes it easy, if not pleasant.

Wha'd he say? I got the "don't make assumptions" part, but that's only, like, three words.

Great posts!Mur at OMF, thanx for that you were fantastic..Thank goodness you are immune to the stuff..! and Double, thats a method for tracking animals and..others..follow the dung heaps and piles ., you can tell what size the beast was , health and everything..hahahaha.
AT OM cyrellis said on same link as Murs..

It is within the Mediator's legitimate power to direct the conversation where improvements in or reiteration of information, or even the use of mnemonic devices may assist the participants to more appropriately and accurately recall or understand information in the way it was intended. The assigning of symbolic labels or connotative meaning to information given will elicit a personal emotional response on the part of the information giver(s). The mediator can work through the detriments of assumptive responses or returns on given information by developing a cooperative strategy with willing participants that is complimentary to the communication purposes early on, fully understanding that this occurrence is not atypical in exopolitical mediation.

Err okay..Linda does it all the time..called steering..but I recall Aldus Huxley said in Animal farm..to take a page when Napoloeon the pig got rid of the Competition..put up a sign on equality..

All Animals are created equal but..

Some animals are more equal than others..

DRT was selectively to ignore the obvious and continue the conversation to other possibilities, however fanciful ie mnemonic reinforcement of the drones meme and ET reality via brute force ..and made one big dung heap..they have created a new ideological vocabulary to accompany pseudo science

odd..cyrellis doesn't post on EGRD anymore..sad, I hope its not because I'm there..Atto did a great post on putting things out in the open just like they want in exopolitics..and Cyrellis complemented..but doesnt come over..I'm hurt..hurt..I tell you.

But Atto, did tell me in confidence that some people he knew were being accused of cattle mutilations. Had to distance himself from that, as it was not to his liking those things. I don't blame him.

LMH steer a witness toward saying things that appear to support an established story? Where you gettin' that kind of crazy talk?

Steering....that was the word I was looking for.

Exopolitical Mediation or Brain washing?

How can there be Mediation when the mediators are biased?
