

Betty J. Eadie's W.A.V.E.S

Bio

When I was 31, I died in a hospital after undergoing surgery. What happened next has been called by some, "the most profound near-death experience ever." Well, it was certainly most profound for me, anyway. I journeyed to a beautiful world beyond this life. I met Jesus there. He gave me a message to give to others when I returned. In my book, Embraced By The Light, I share that message. I describe the wonderful places I visited and the loving people that welcomed me.

My website, like my books, is dedicated to sharing what I learned during my brief stay in heaven. This site is a gathering place for people looking for inspiration and comfort. Jesus said to me: "Above all else, love one another." So this is a place of love. I hope you come away uplifted and inspired by something you might discover here. And more, may God touch your life for having visited.

Warring Angel Volunteers on Earth (W.A.V.E.S)

The WAVES came about from a vision I had where I was shown the powerful effects of prayer created by Warring Angels on Earth.

So many of you have made this offer through letters, email and phone calls, and it always warms my heart to know that you are eager to spread the message of God's unconditional love. Until now, my response has always been to ask you to pray for me and to share my books with others as you feel inspired to do so. Now, I need your help in a new way. I've begun an organized volunteer effort called Warring Angel Volunteers on Earth or W.A.V.E.S to provide active opportunities for readers and friends to get involved. I give it this name because many people, in offering their support, have said to me, "I feel like one of your Warring Angels, Betty!" They refer, of course, to my description in Embraced By The Light of the real warring angels I saw in heaven. Shortening it to W.A.V.E.S is symbolic of the ripple effect and of our combined efforts of prayer and service which will cause ripples to swell into waves of goodness and love. These wash across the world and bring healing and light to many souls.
